

CONTROP USA specializes in the development and production of electro-optical and precision motion control systems for surveillance, defense, and homeland security. CONTROP's main product lines include: high performance stabilized observation payloads used for day/night surveillance in ground applications, onboard UAS, small UAS and aerostats/balloons, helicopters, light aircraft (A/C), maritime patrol boats and ground vehicles; automatic intruder detection systems for coastal and border surveillance, port/harbor security, the security of sensitive sites and ground troops security; thermal imaging cameras with high performance continuous zoom lens and state-of-the-art image enhancement features, and more. CONTROP's products are in daily operational use in many of the most critical surveillance, homeland security and defense programs worldwide.